In dedicating the 1977 PYLON to Dr. Stanley Shane, perhaps the best summation of his ideals and his work comes from Dr. E. B. Flink, his colleague and friend:

Dr. Stanley Shane is a man of many superlative human qualities. He is a sensitive, compassionate, humorous, and generous person. A devoted father and husband in full support of his children, his hours away from the Med Center are devoted to family camping and skiing excursions. Certainly he is one of the busiest physicians in our hospital!

Dr. Shane has been a leading member of the Department of Medicine in its whole gamut of activities. A fierce competitor, first with himself and then with others, he has creative ideas and manages to do clinical investigation in addition to his overwhelming work load. He is imaginative and very intelligent, but he never tries to impress others with his knowledge or ability. Anyone who has read his terse, incisive and readable notes in charts can understand why he is a very much sought after medical consultant. Dr. Shane really is a very special person - a genuine human being.

THE OATH OF MAIMONIDES

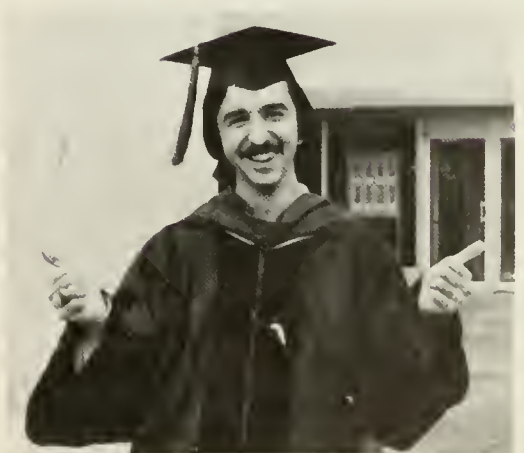

The eternal providence has appointed me watch over the life and health of Thy creatures. May the love for my art actuate me at all times; may neither avarice nor miserliness, nor thirst for glory, or for a great reputation engage my mind; for the enemies of truth and philanthropy could easily deceive me and make me forgetful of my lofty aim of doing good to Thy children. May I never see in the patient anything but a fellow creature in pain. Grant me strength, time and opportunity always to correct what I have acquired, always to extend its domain; for knowledge is immense, and the spirit of man can extend infinitely to enrich itself daily with new requirements. Today he can discover his errors of yesterday and tomorrow he may obtain a new light on what he thinks sure of today.

O, God, Thou has appointed me to watch over the life and death of Thy creatures; here am I ready for my vocation, and now I turn unto my calling.

Moses ben Maimon (better known as Maimonides), was born in Cordova, Spain in 1135. Early in life a religious war in Spain forced his family to flee to Africa, with final refuge in Fostat (old Cairo) Egypt, where he began his study and practice of medicine. His skill as a physician and his broad knowledge of medicine was so respected that eventually he became physician to Saladin, Sultan of Egypt. Despite this high position, he continued to care for patients from all walks of life. His parallel interests in religion and philosophy led to his appointment as the spiritual head of Egyptian Jewry.

Maimonides recognized the limited scope of the physician's skills, knowledge, and ability to heal. He abundantly displayed modesty, humility, and sterling moral character, together with medical talents of such obvious quality that he was referred to as "prince of physicians." Nevertheless, he humbly sought divine guidance in fulfilling his medical and spiritual duties TO and FOR his fellow man. He transcended his egocentric needs and urged his medical colleagues to be concerned over every patient, humanely, with love and mercy, regardless of station in life. His oath acknowledges human limitations and prays for strength, wisdom, and knowledge to enable the physician to alleviate pain and allay the suffering of his patients.

The Alpha Omega Alpha Medical Honor Society is an organization of the undergraduate, graduate, and faculty members of West Virginia University School of Medicine. The name of the organization is made up of three Greek letters which are essential words in the motto "To be worthy to serve the suffering." Organized first in 1902 at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in Chicago, the society exists for the purpose of education. It recognizes by its membership those who have distinguished themselves in the pursuit of their medical education or who have attained leadership in the medical profession. Members from the class of 1977 are as follows:

Kevan Andrews
David Baughn
Larry Cantley
Katherine Huffman
John Kessler
David Larkin
Chris McGary

James McJunkin
Robert Nuzum

Evening rounds?

Lay off, Gaylor . . . you'll get to do plenty of finger waves in Urology.

Hold him down while I insert this #40 Foley!

I'll get that knee jerk if it's the last thing I do!

No, Ankylosing Spondylitis is more like this.

ODE TO BASIC SCIENCE

It started in August of '73 -
Basic Science attacked me!
Reading assignments at Registration
Marked the beginning of intellectual castration.

We looked through microscopes at things that were dinky
Assisted by Mort, Billy, and Slinky.

Gross Anatomy tickled our noses;
Cadaver juice saturated our clothes.
Biochemistry drove us insane,
But none of us had to go to Tulane!

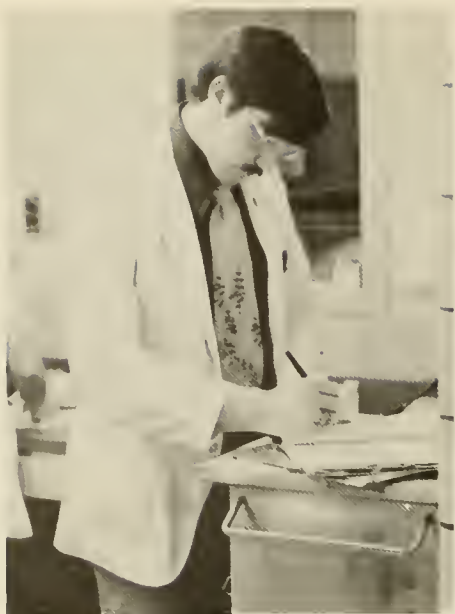

After a "too short" summer, we made our return to Basic Science where we hoped to learn something of value for a practice some year
Instead of the rat facts we'd learned to fear.

We met Pathology the very first day
When Dr. Rodman told us about I-o-way.
Wilhelm Albrink was an exaggeration;
He taught the first section of inflammation.
Rodman and platelets were the next big drama,
Followed by Evans on Physical Trauma.
Shah's collagen diseases left us in spasms.
Then back came Albrink with neoplams.
Hales' big thing was liver diseases -
"Magnificent!" "Repeat that, please."

Microbiology was the other big course;
Programmed learning came on full force.
U.C.L.A.'s Dr. Scott Pore
Taught us mycology from hyphae to spore.
Coach Robert Veltri was quite a sage,
Lecturing on viruses and bacteriophage.
After all the guys with fungi and germs,
On came Dr. Hall with protozoa and worms.

It's been mostly hard work, but partly a laugh.
That's Basic Science, first year and a half.

Please! Just one more stick, and I know I'll get it.

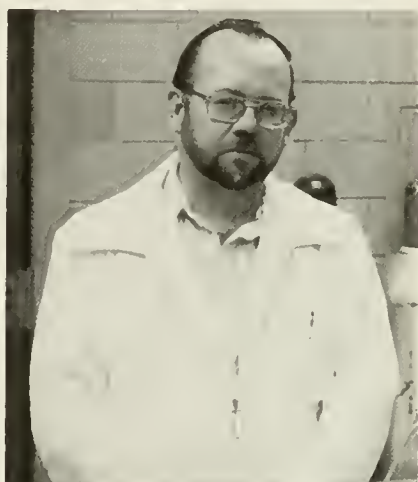

This must be the student-run Surgery-A Clinic.

Is good job, but patient has no pulse!

Turn off the Hi-Fi . . . I can't see.

What am I doing here? I'm supposed to be in the Faculty Section.

No, you CAN'T change your schedule again.

We'll have to check with Dean Morgan to see if you can take eleven months of Radiation Safety.

The Award

I am not Turkey . . . I am Turkish!

The Junior Class is very pleased to present the Turkey Award to you as you complete your year of service to the West Virginia University School of Medicine as a Chief Resident in Surgery.

Your sincere interest, quiet sense of humor, and gentle, competent touch made your students feel like human beings once again. You refrained from waking up the students at 4 A.M. to debride a wound. You never once demanded the NUMBERS.

Instead you said to us, "Yehhh . . . rounds are over."

For this, we thank you.

Congratulations
